Adapted Art

Inspire the artist
in every student.™

As you support creativity, we support you.

Students with disabilities not only can excel in the arts, they can build self-esteem and confidence that extends to everything they do. At School Specialty, we help educators provide that growth opportunity to all. We've curated a wide range of adapted art education products, expert tips, and classroom-ready art lesson plans designed so teachers can include every student with confidence. Use these pages as a starting point, then discover even more at Select.SchoolSpecialty.com/adapted-art

Paint

Teaching Strategy: Some students can become overwhelmed by too many choices and “get stuck,” potentially even shutting down and not working at all. This set lets you easily provide only a few colors to minimize that stress. Assign colors, or invite the student to participate in the selection.

Brushes & Accessories

Teaching Strategy: Students who struggle physically to control paint, or whose perfectionism leads to frustration, can enjoy art products whose “lines” can then be turned into more painterly effects. Students “draw” their images, then use Aqua-Flo® brushes to soften and make it look more like paint.

Art Paper, Boards, 3D Construction

Teaching Strategy: Wikki Stix® are ideal for numerous art uses, including tracing. Direct students to take a Wikki Stix, create a line design, and stick it to paper. Students use art tools to trace around the shape they created, then lift off and repeat. Teachers can also prepare multiple shapes in advance to promote independent student engagement.

Cutting & Adhesives

Maped® Spring Assist
Scissors 5", Set of 12
Item #1359308

Teaching Strategy: To see whether students can manage a regular scissors, position their hand over the scissors. From behind their hand, gently squeeze the scissors to demonstrate the "open/close" motion. If students cannot independently make this move, check out our teaching strategy on choosing the best cutting tool for them.

Crayola® Model Magic®
Deluxe Variety Pack/14
Item #1382233

Teaching Strategy: Model Magic™ makes great hand grips for students with fine motor issues. Take about half of a 1 ounce bag and wrap it into a ring around a marker, crayon, or paintbrush where the student would hold onto it. Have the student gently grasp the Model Magic, then let it harden into a customized hand grip.

Printmaking

Speedball® LinoZip Assortment No. 37
Item #380966

Teaching Strategy: This pull-type alternative blade puts the free hand safely behind the cutting action. Its blade can also be positioned sideways, enabling students with a different range of arm motion to create art similarly to their peers. While bench clips may need to be modified for the different cutting direction, the expected variety of blade shapes is available, making this safer system a feasible choice for all students.

Furniture & Accessories

Teaching Strategy: The heights of tables, desks, and working spaces are often challenging for individuals in a wheelchair. This table's unique leg design lets users adjust its height in under 30 seconds without tools, allowing it to accommodate sitting, standing, and display for users of all ages and abilities. Change its height on just one side, and it can even be turned into an easel.
